NEW HANOVER
HIGH SCHOOL

Reserved for Betsy

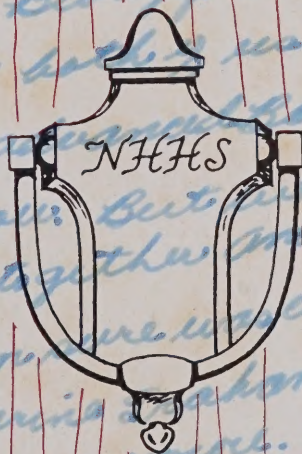

Dear Sharon,

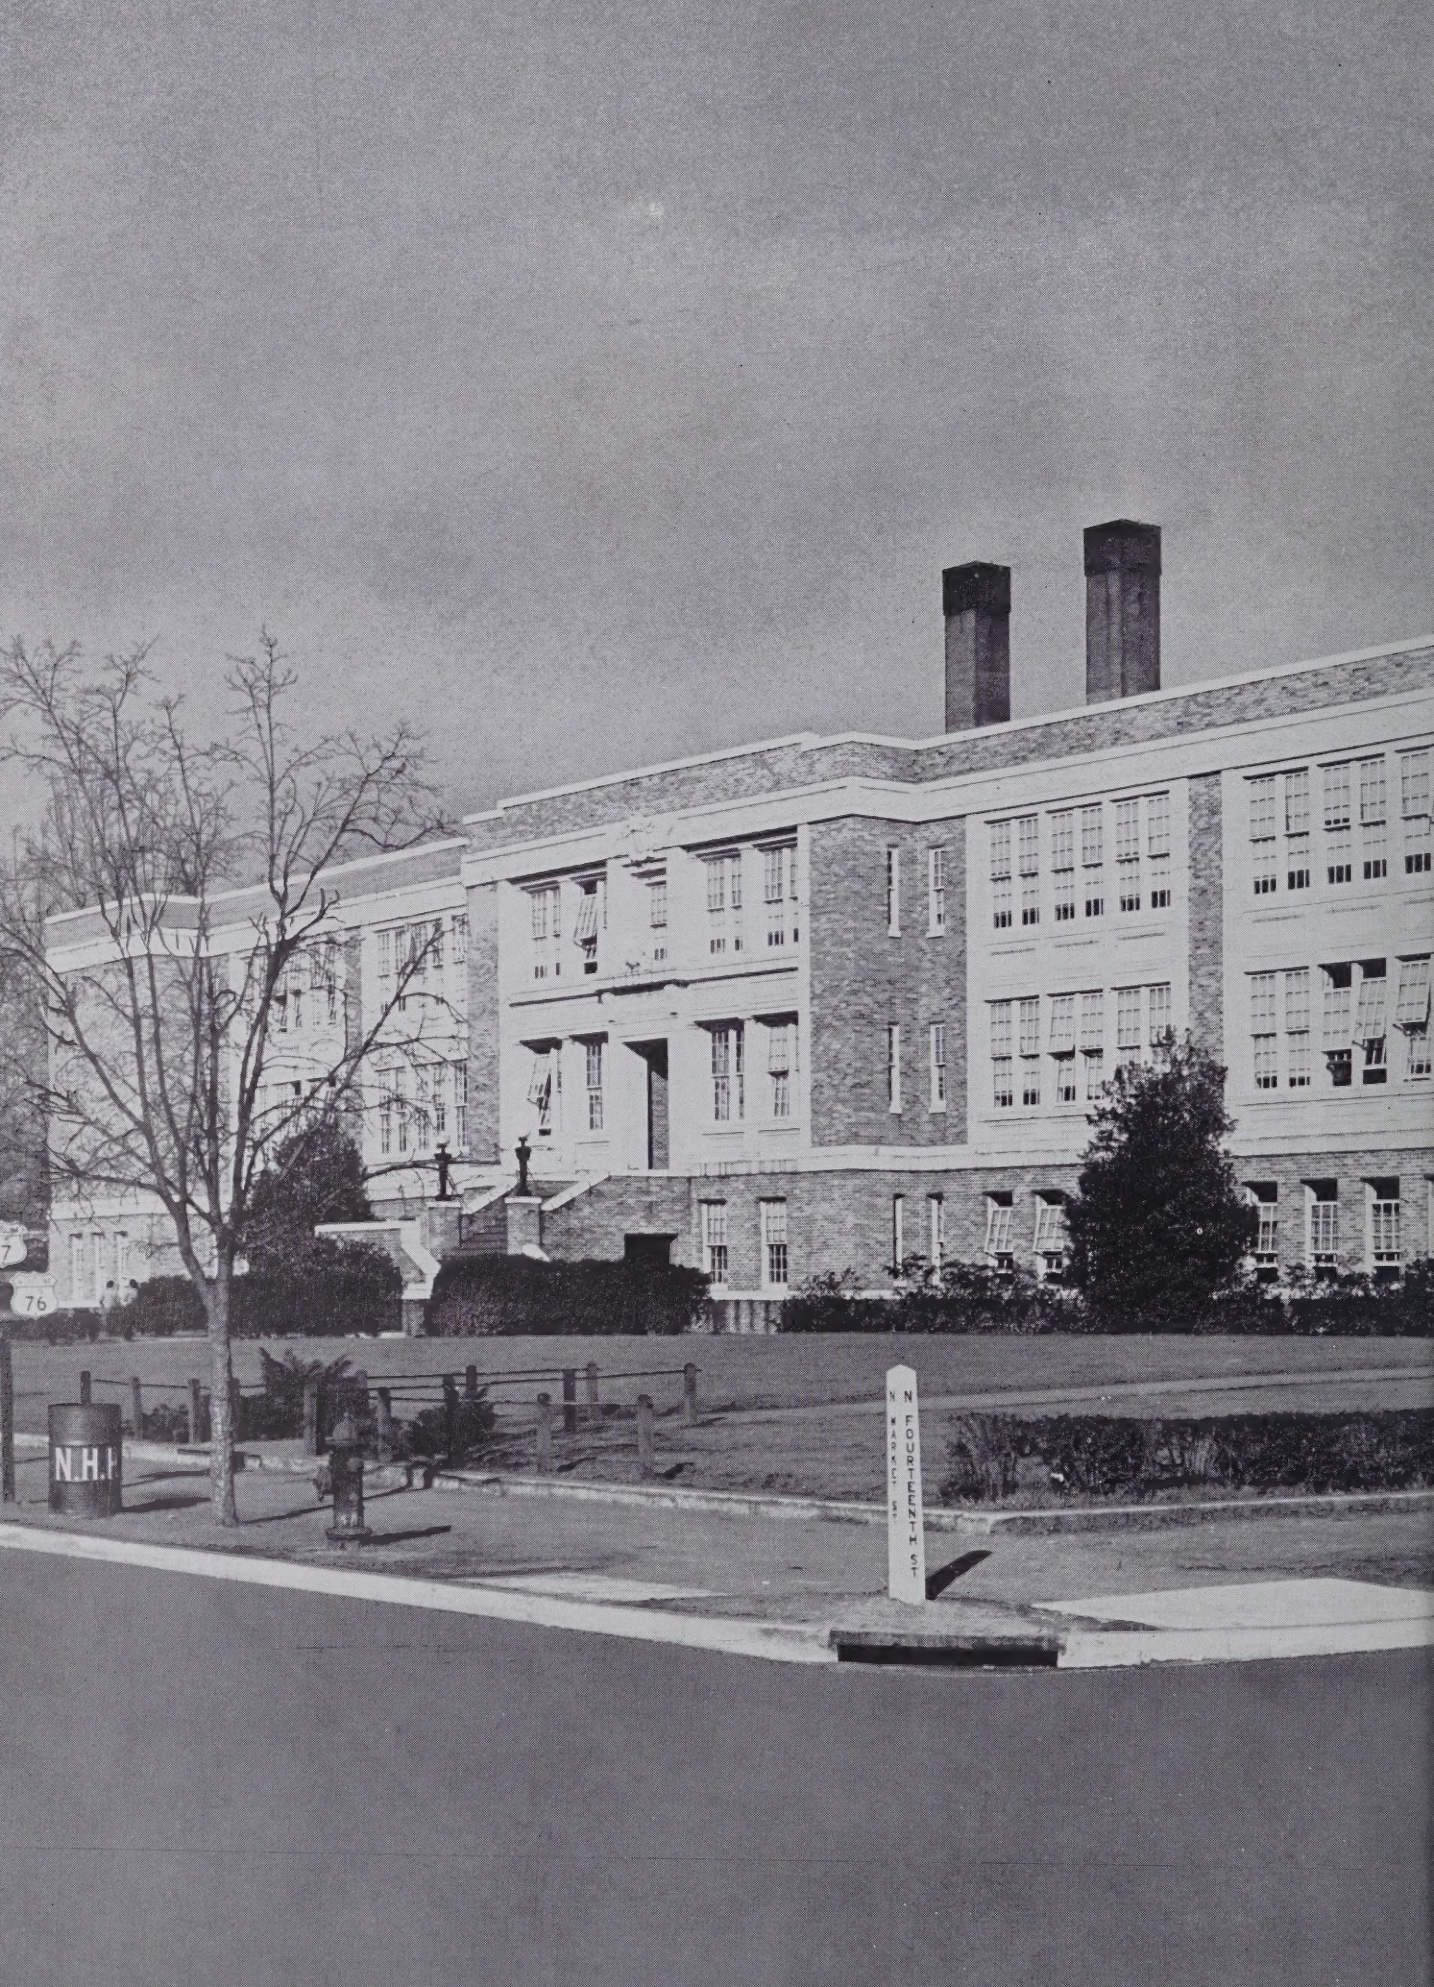

I really don't know what to say or where to begin. I guess I'll start with grammar school. We sure had a grand time didn't we, in Miss Thompson's room with Shirley S. (I don't know how to spell her last name) and Sondra. I never will forget playing paper dolls at your house in Colonial Village. Miss Pickard and Mrs. Peacock were wonderful teachers, too. Remember how we wet ~~out~~ our pants in Mrs. Peacock's room. Maybe that's something that everybody ought not to read but we didn't know any better, then, did we? When you left and moved to Lake Forest. When you came back, I guess we were a little shrubby toward you, weren't we? They say that children can be mean to each other. But we were soon friends, again. We had fine times in 4th with Miss Nobles. Did you go to Raleigh? I can't remember. That was a fine party you had at your house for 4th. The only thing wrong was that we could not skate too far away. Remember that other party that you had. I'll never forget how you told me today that I was going to ask him something and then I had to ask him to give partly. And then he had to autograph that book. "Roses are red, violets are blue" something?

PRESENTING

I do. I was never embarrassed in my life.
Ah, well, that's life. Then we graduated.
And everybody cried except me. It's hard.
Hearted me. But new things have been changed. Remember how we wanted to be in some classes together, so bad. Why I even took advanced Biology so we could get together.
We knew that before us taking Algebra I English and I was sure Biology would get together somehow. But we had to wait. It this year to get together in Geometry etc. that many. And we were in there wasn't she? and Catherine's. Gosh, we sure have driving - and I say more. Gosh, we sure have good times. Have we. Last summer we had a ball didn't she. The reason I screamed in my thing because I knew then that I wouldn't be here this summer. Did you know that. So bad. I didn't get my license sooner. Then we could have had better times. I hope that in the years to come that we can continue our friendship shall if it can survive all these years. But I hope that it can continue. I think I told many.
I can't continue right now. But I'll it later. A.K.

Hi. Gal.
Well I don't know exactly when to start. But I just want you to know it sure has been a wonderful year and we've had loads of fun on our "New Parties." I want to wish a swell girl all the luck in the world, and I hope we can have has much fun on more next year. You're tops gal, and always stay as sweet and unaffected as you are now.
Lots of love. Be good and I'm looking forward to seeing you this summer.

The

Love,

The doors of life have swung silently apart. The opportunities to open doors within life itself present themselves every day. Each person hopes to pass through the doors of success. To those just beginning high school, the doors are now opening to the fun of high school life, to the privilege of participating in extra-curricular activities, and to the opportunity of receiving honors for work well done.

A C E

To the graduating class, the entry to this phase of life will be closed forever. For all, there will be other portals; but the memories of life at New Hanover High School will live as long as the student himself lives. The 1953 Hanoverian is designed to help each student recall those memories of the time the doors to the best part of his life stood open.

Dedicated to MRS. MARY WYCHE MINTZ

To her, who so willingly gave of her time and ideas in order that our HANOVERIAN might be a success, we dedicate this entire book. In past years she was the adviser and coordinator of the HANOVERIAN staffs, giving up her free periods and working long hours after school. She was never too busy to stop and attend to HANOVERIAN business.

It remained an unsolved mystery to us how she kept her hair piled so expertly atop her head. The wide, blue eyes and delicate frame reminded one of a little girl; but the experience, the wisdom, and the depth of her understanding proved that she was not. If you took the time to cultivate her friendship, you discovered that her personality was a shining thing—delicate, yet firm. Because of her strictness, we learned; because of her sweetness, we loved—her. We wish everyone could know her as we do. She is truly a person to store in one's memory of unforgettable people.

No excuse for idleness.

This was a familiar part of the first floor; for, following the reading of the devotional and the bulletin, students vied with each other for taking the trip to the school store. Once there, they could buy such necessities as graph paper, compasses, and kleenex. Here Leo Thompson, manager, and Billy Teague, assistant, take inventory.

Anne Croom and Miss Schulken collected grudging dimes in return for lost books, sold tickets to out-of-town games, and received money for long-awaited class rings.

Assembly gave us contrast for diversion, ideals for inspiration, and topics for conversation. Underclassmen attended on Tuesdays; upperclassmen, on Wednesdays. The seniors assumed a dignified appearance as they marched past the seated underclassmen. Here the Hanoverian staff presents superlatives. Some movie star, alias Lucy Ann Carney, pins Mary Cox and Fred Kelly with the title of "Best Dressed."

There were many interesting ways

Formation on Mondays and Fridays was noticeable by the vacant homeroom desks. In their haste to be on time, the boys often forgot to sign out. On cold mornings, one of the most welcome sounds was the ringing of the P A system bell announcing "No formation." For the boys, the days of high school ROTC are unforgettable ones.

The Legislature met once a week during homeroom period. Among other activities, it sent delegates to the Burlington convention and published the "Orange and Black Handbook."

If a student was lucky enough to have a library period, he could study for a test or get homework. Most library students, however, did anything but study. Whispering here was fun because it was forbidden.

to spend homeroom period.

Mixed Chorus members composed another homeroom class. The music room echoed their rehearsals as they practiced for perfection. They provided our holiday music and gave their annual operetta. Under the direction of Mr. Sam Taylor they gained the applause of the whole school. The combined choruses are here dressing for a performance.

Three minutes to dress and get to the next class was not an unusual incident in the gym classes. Boys and girls alike enjoyed the exacting games and teamwork. Physical education provided a chance for releasing excess energy. This subject is required, but everyone appreciates its value.

Miss Lossen's art classes provided additional opportunity for creativeness. The stage scenery they had a part in designing added much to the students' enjoyment of productions. The hall in front of her room was littered often with the raw materials soon to be converted into works of art.

Learning was the main

Students had a choice of three foreign languages, while many schools offered only one. Students declined verbs, wrote sentences, and translated stories. Friday was their regular test day. This picture is in memory of the long-suffering French II students. Here Mr. Browning conducts translation.

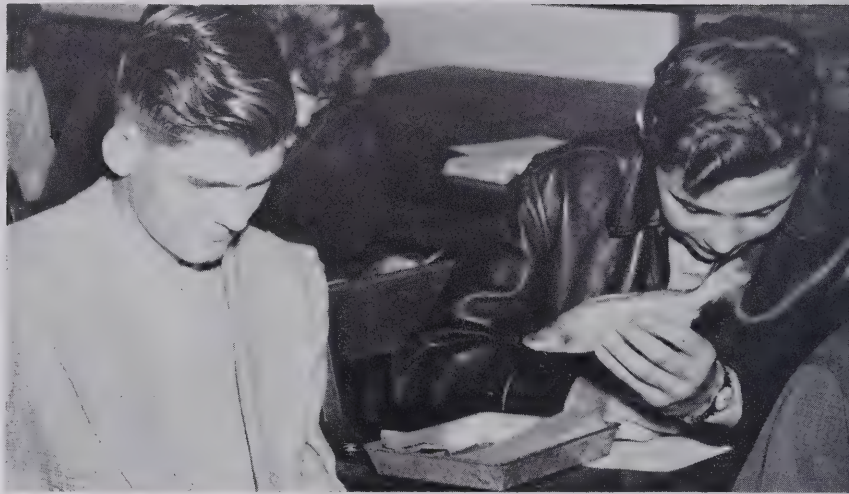

From the commonplaceness of everyday conversation, all came to the English class to learn of higher realms of thought. Students wrote themes, diagrammed sentences, and read books. They learned to read to find the complete meaning and then to express their own ideas about what they had read. Punctuation rules and spelling words received much attention. In Miss Walsh's class Mary Ann Watkins here explains a sentence while other students diagram it.

For those who liked mathematics, that class was fascinating. Some mathematics was required of every student who graduated and more for those who planned to go to college. Among other things, it taught accuracy and concentration. It ranged from basic mathematics to college algebra and solid geometry. These are Miss Sander's algebra students taking a test.

Major operations on frogs, fish, cats, and what-have-you went on in the biology classes. The test tube and the Bunsen burner were key words in the chemistry lab, and maybe the physics students could explain what they did; no one else could. This is Mrs. Lane's biology class on a typical lab day.

"Who do you have for history—Mrs. Brock, Miss Williams, or Miss Russ? You'll have to state the aim of the course on the final exam." No matter which teacher it was, she did convey a broader knowledge and a better understanding of major events to her students. This is Miss Russ' government class.

For those who want to earn their living immediately after receiving their high school diploma, the commercial field offered training which made one efficient. Speed and accuracy were two aims of this department. Here Mrs. Bjonerud's office machines class has already prepared the apparatus for the day's work.

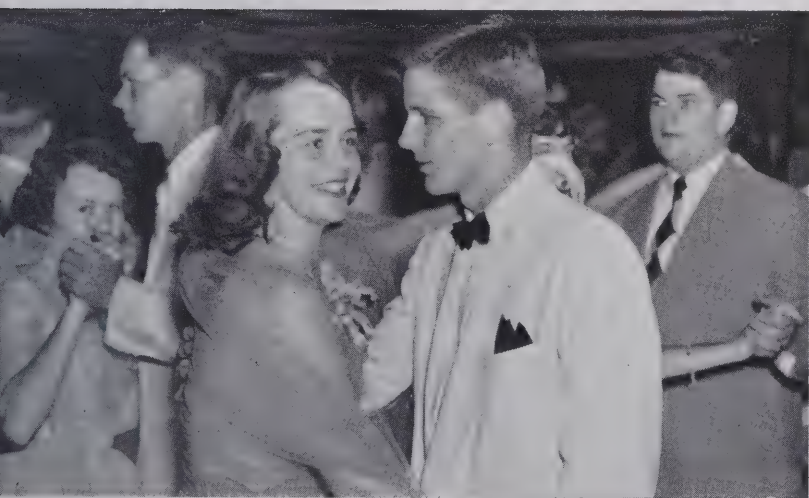

Studies came first, then

The building of props for the National Honor Society stage apparatus and the Christmas scenery on the front lawn were two services rendered by the woodwork class which were much appreciated. To those boys who had a creative spirit, this course offered satisfaction and training for a future hobby or occupation.

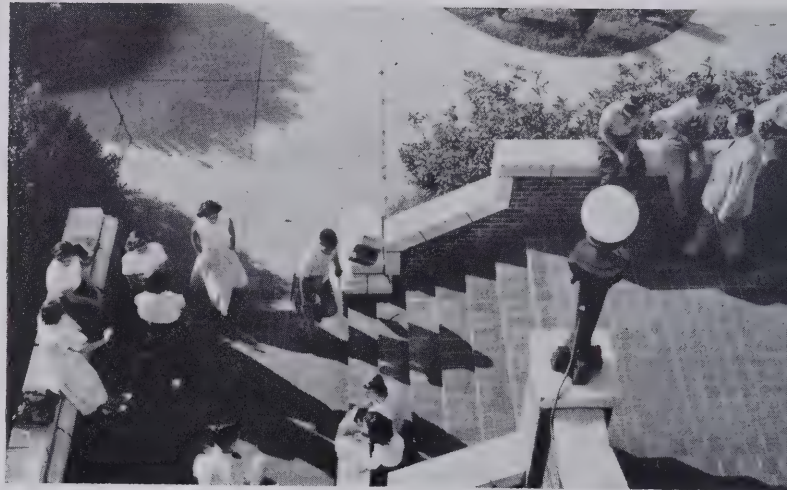

The Home Economics Department offered three years of training, one year of which could be substituted for one year of science. Those enrolled learned graciousness in the art of homemaking and fundamentals in the necessity of health. This course was recommended not only for girls anticipating homemaking, but also for boys intent on bachelorhood.

The socials were talked about for weeks in advance, since they were the events which made school all the more fun. Boys who forgot the required tie for a dance quickly learned how to make them from crepe paper. The Junior-Senior Prom, the May Dance, and the Football Dance were three of the most enjoyable school dances. Pictured here are gala couples at the Junior-Senior Prom.

we enjoyed our free time.

"The final bell sounds. Unless you're a bus student, there's no hurry. You've got from now until eight-thirty the next morning to do just as you please." The senior steps was a favorite meeting place.

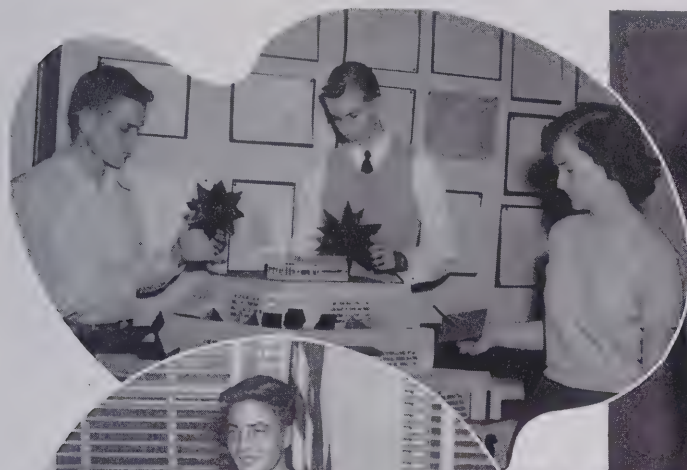

"If the teacher doesn't watch, they'll be shoving and pushing out the door. By the time she reaches the door, everyone has gone. Where are we going in such a hurry? Oh—the lunch bell just rang." Be it fifth or sixth, the bell was a signal for the races to begin.

Sports were a favorite topic at New Hanover High. From football to basketball and finally to baseball, the fans carried their enthusiasm. The peanuts we enjoyed at the football games are noticeably missing here. One of the most thrilling moments at games was indicated by the perfect silence that prevailed during the basketball free shot.

These we remember.

Mr. Dale K. Spencer

One of the surprising things about our principal was that he kept up with every single organization, activity, and publication in our school. To see him reading the Wildcat, attending all school socials, advising the administration, and attending to every individual problem presented to him was most inspiring. To do these things and also coordinate the running of a fourteen-hundred-member high school was no small task. Mr. Spencer came to New Hanover the same year as did the present Senior Class. He was a freshman with them, and they felt closer to him than did the rest of the school. It is hoped that students for a long time to come will have his expert guidance.

These worked together for our well-being.

MR. GEORGE G. BROWN

Always eager that things be done properly and on time and doing both these things himself was characteristic of Mr. Brown, the assistant principal. If one asked a favor of him, he was sure of its being considered and, if within reason, accomplished. He talked to students about colleges and scholarships and advised the Hanoverian staff on certain matters. Always the patient adviser and director, he was highly esteemed by all members of our institution.

Two of our foremost counselors, whose offices were always crowded and whose judgment was constantly in demand, were our deans. As if that were not enough, they also taught and thus added to their responsibility.

MR. FRED CAPPS
Dean of Boys

MRS. MEARES HARRISS
Dean of Girls

They worked quietly, efficiently.

MISS ELIZABETH MONTGOMERY

The F.B.I., or Faculty's Bureau of Information was Miss Montgomery, who knew all there was to know about it, where to look for it, or whom to ask about it. The million questions involved in the running of a school were usually hers to answer. As registrar she kept a record of every student, from life history to extra-curricular activities. Teachers' records also were kept in her files.

IN MEMORIAM

SHELIAH ELIZABETH CAPPS

1935-1951

*Our hearts recall a sunny smile,
With blue eyes dancing all the while,
A spirit warm as May sun's gleam,
Now once more in Heaven's Theme;
A friend whose loss has caused us pain,
Forever ours in Memory Lane.*

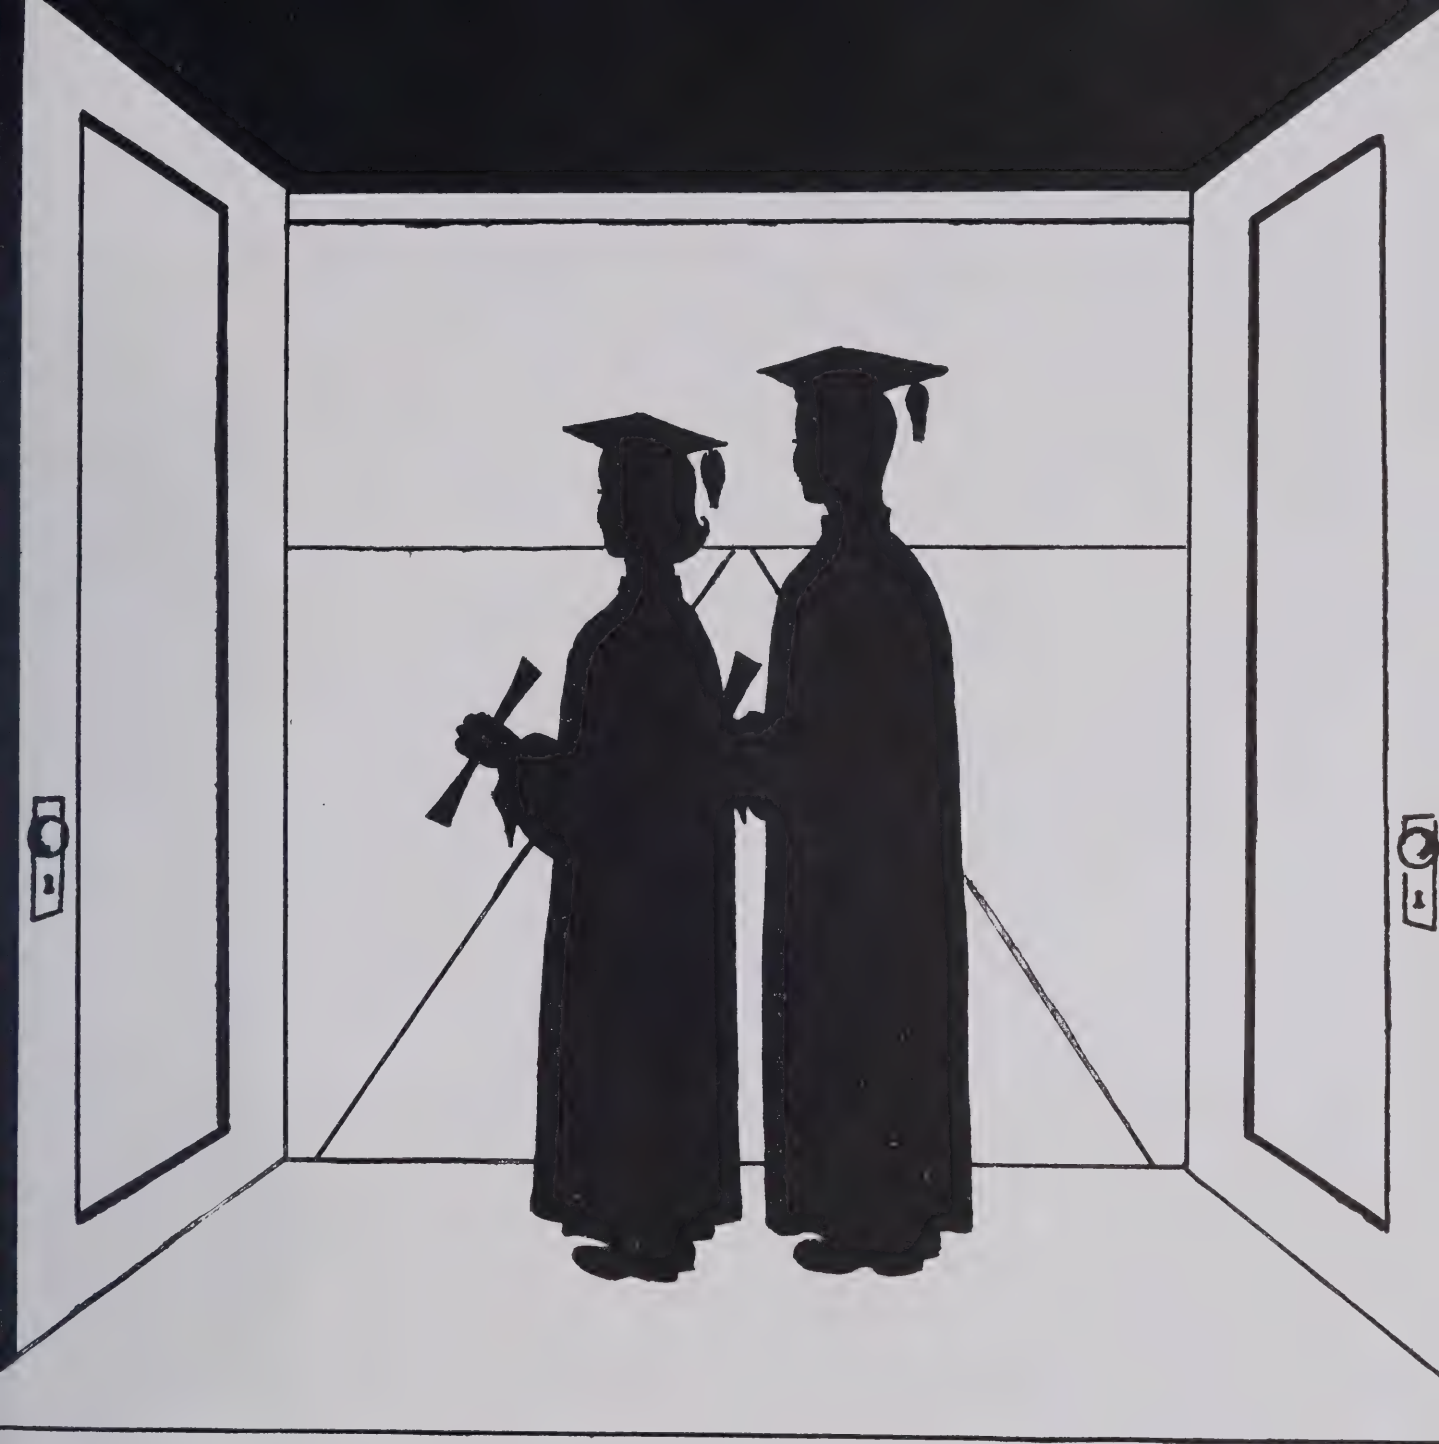

Special Moments

The Future Beckons

Perhaps to many seniors of 1953 this will be the last door of formal learning through which they will pass. Other portals of life and its realities will open to them the experiences of responsibilities, temptations, and happiness.

To other graduating students this door will be followed by more doors of higher education, in which extensive knowledge will be acquired to fit them better for greater service to themselves, to humanity, and to God.

Class Officers

Though somewhat bewildered, they began the year with a smile and a dream. The dreams were of three inviting years of new experiences. In their class elections the sophomores chose those who they thought would best lead their class through the year.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

These fortunate students who were accorded the highest honor the high school can offer strived to be deserving of the honor. Led by capable president, Helen Williams, they attended business meetings and suppers, at which they planned such activities as a card tournament and a tea for semester honor roll students. Throughout the year they endeavored to increase their ability to uphold and extend the four cardinal principles of the society: scholarship, leadership, service, and character. The members were chosen on the basis of their capacity to maintain these precepts. Other officers of this society were Joan Pierce, Vice-President; Jo Smithwick, Secretary; and Anne Lassiter, Treasurer.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government was one of the most important organizations of the school, for around it evolved all school activities. This vital organization was composed of the Executive Council, the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Judges, the Judicial Marshals, the Co-ordinating Committee, and the Social Marshals. Each of these various bodies carried out all of their duties so successfully that by the end of the year the organization had reached its goal of establishing a student government of the students, by the students, and for the students.

Judges chided transgressors

JUDGES

Pat Brookshire, Tommy Shannon, Larry Bullard, Freddie Butters, Kenneth Alexander, Allene Keith.

"Why can't I skip steps?" or "There aren't any cars coming." Many such remarks were voiced to the Judicial Marshals. It was explained that the rules were made for the safety of the students, and that they should be obeyed. These marshals played a great part in the smooth functioning of our school.

Government clubs worked

GOVERNMENT CLUBS

"I believe in the United States of America" is a clause familiar to every member of a government club, for, as the first words in The American's Creed, it frequently opened the meetings of the various clubs. Following a short business session, the meeting was turned over to the program chairman. The typical program was concerned with speakers, movies, and field trips connected with the government. The noise and the ballyhoo of the recent presidential race were not unheeded by the government clubs, as they held an election of their own. Eisenhower was declared the winner of the first election; and Stevenson, the winner of the second one. The election of government students to take over duties of the city officials for one day proved quite exciting; however, the climax to the year was the annual trip to Washington during the Easter holidays. Because of the knowledge that these students obtained through their government clubs, they are now better prepared to meet the responsibilities that confront every American citizen.

SPANISH CLUBS

The Spanish students of our school can certainly say yes to the "Habla Usted Espanol?" Throughout the school year, classes of conversation were very prevalent. The clubs had very interesting and profitable programs. One of the most enjoyable was a guest speaker, Doctor Alberto Portero, who is from Spain. Students learned of Spanish dress, customs, and beliefs. Second year students enjoyed reading short stories and books with Spanish background and accent.

HI-Y AND TRI-HI-Y

Creating, maintaining, and extending Christian character throughout the school and community is the purpose of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs. The members of these clubs have weekly meetings and programs, monthly projects, and many enjoyable socials. Their blue, red, and gold triangular-shaped pins are a symbol of the high ideals and achievements of these very active clubs. This small pin is worn proudly and is recognized throughout the school. Service is one of the main platforms of the Hi-Y, and each year this organization conducts a week of prayer in each of the city's grammar schools, which always proves a very beneficial project. Working together for the good of the community, and serving others, the Hi-Y clubs form a congenial group, ready and willing to help others through the week of prayer, the polio campaign, and many other projects of local and foreign aid.

The red velvet curtain rose slowly, and another successful season for the New Hanover High School Thespians was underway. Opening the year was the presentation of a dramatic one act play, Undertow, which was given in assembly by several members of this organization. Next on the agenda was the fall production of Ring Around Elizabeth, a three act comedy. Under the direction of Miss Doris Hovis, club advisor, the senior play was efficiently undertaken by members of the senior class. The trip to Chapel Hill for the Dramatics Festival during the spring to present a play in competition with other dramatics clubs from all over the state climaxed this year. Although one usually thinks of dramatics as involving only acting, those who have participated in the Thespians' activities realize that without the make-up, the costumes, the publicity, the properties, and the ticket committees, the functions of the club could not have possibly been carried out. When the final curtain fell, closing the '52-'53 season for the Thespians, there was no doubt that the members had developed a great interest in and a deep love for the theater.

School publications provided

After many days of hard work, the Telephone Book committee was ready to send their work of art to the printer. The books were distributed among the students in time for them to send their Christmas cards. The attractive cover, designed by Margaret Head, brought many comments from the faculty, as well as from the students. In this publication could be found a complete list of all the students, their telephone numbers, their addresses, and their homerooms.

The Handbook committee was composed of Barbara Pace, Katherine Graham, Donald Graziano, Pete Land, Oscar Grant, Diane Snakenburg, and Patsy Barrett. In their publication one could find all school rules and regulations, a list of clubs and their purposes, and many other important facts concerning the school.

through fatiguing hours

Mrs. Symmes, Mrs. Durham, and Mrs. Hayden were responsible for guiding the Hanoverian staff members in all their work. These advisors not only did their duty during school hours, but they often helped the staff by getting ads, identifying pictures, and writing headlines. Because of their interest and capability this annual reached the printer at the specified time.

The Feature Staff and the Art Staff worked closely together in the making of the attractive school life section and the division pages. Many last minute changes in layout were handled well by the art staff. Jo Smithwick, feature editor, is shown here discussing the layout of the superlative pages with Editor-in-chief, Joan Pierce, while other members of the staff look on with interest.

After many clicks of the camera, these girls were then faced with the task of identifying countless students and choosing the best photographs. One of the most perturbing problems was the headline for every page and the write-ups for each picture. From all this confusion developed the Sports and Club sections under the leadership of Jo Allen Brown and Virginia Dixon. Lucy Ann Carney helped immensely with the club section, while Jean Jones and Sara Ann Phelps helped on the sports.

The class and the photographic staffs worked diligently in order to prepare the class pictures so that their section would be a success. The photographic staff was responsible for scheduling class pictures and being present when they were taken. The class staff identified the pictures and listed the senior activities. Left to right, they are: Jane Lanier, Eleanor West, Louise Cash (class editor), Stella Smith, and Cynthia Lewis.

Ads, ads, ads, and more ads! These words pounded in the minds of all the members of the business and ad staffs. These workers did a wonderful job in keeping books, recording ads, collecting money for subscriptions, and keeping the annual on a secure financial basis.

Ad editor Mary Ann Watkins, Business Manager Jean Fisher and Elsie McKoy look up from their work, while Edna Lee Lennon and John Brockwell offer suggestions.

Loyal musicians performed

MIXED CHORUS

This was one of the most successful years that the Mixed Chorus has ever had. The chorus was recognized by outstanding music critics throughout the state. It performed for various civic organizations and also gave performances out of town. An octet, girls' trio, and boys' quartet were successfully organized. A Thanksgiving, a Christmas, an Easter, and a spring concert were presented in the high school auditorium. The operetta, "Pickles," high-lighted the year for both the participants and the audiences. Under Mr. Sam Taylor's leadership, the chorus left a lasting impression on all.

MIXED CHORUS

Vivacious majorettes and an enthusiastic drum major worked together to give added interest to an excellent band. As band members they proved their musical ability by learning the techniques of various musical instruments. Marching with the ROTC Band on Mondays and Fridays, they added color to the formation.

The New Hanover High School Junior Division Reserve Officers' Training Corps was established in 1937 under the provisions of Section 40 of the National Defense Act of 3 June 1916. Regular Army personnel, who must possess high qualifications, are assigned by Army Headquarters for the proper administration and instruction of the Cadet Corps.

The general objectives of the Junior Reserve Officers' Corps Course are to lay the foundation for intelligent citizenship by teaching the principles of leadership, respect for constituted authority, habits of precision, orderliness, courtesy, correctness of posture and deportment, and to give the student basic military training which will be of benefit to him and of value to the military services if he becomes a member. The greatest portion of subject matter studied in their courses can be applied to everyday situations.

Honor schools throughout the United States are determined through annual federal inspections. The local corps has had the distinction of being selected as an honor unit for fifteen consecutive years. This is designated by the wearing of a red star on the lower portion of the right sleeve of the coat.

Each year five young ladies of the Senior Class are selected by the ROTC cadets to represent the battalion staff and each lettered company.

This year the annual ROTC Military Ball was held in the high school gymnasium on the thirteenth of December.

The ROTC Battalion is composed of Companies "A", "B", "C", and "D" and the band. Formal reviews and parades are held Monday and Friday mornings on the drill field at Thirteenth and Ann Streets at 8:45. Presentation of awards are made each Monday morning to the honor and distinguished cadets of the previous week, and a guidon streamer is presented to the honor company of the previous week.

The Varsity Football Team

From September through November, Friday night was the highlight of every week. Cheering crowds, bright lights, tense moments—these things bring back wonderful memories of the 1952-53 football season. Loyal fans followed the team to all their games. Visiting teams found it impossible to defeat the NHHS squad on its home field. Our pride in the Wildcats swelled when our co-captains were chosen to participate in the Shrine Bowl game and when Coach Brogden was selected by the Shrine Athletic Committee to coach the North Carolina team.

Early in the year, the New Hanover High School tennis team was organized for the 1953 season. In the spring, regular practice sessions were held; and the team held competitive matches among themselves. Later they held matches with Goldsboro, Raleigh, Kinston, Rocky Mount, and Camp Lejeune.

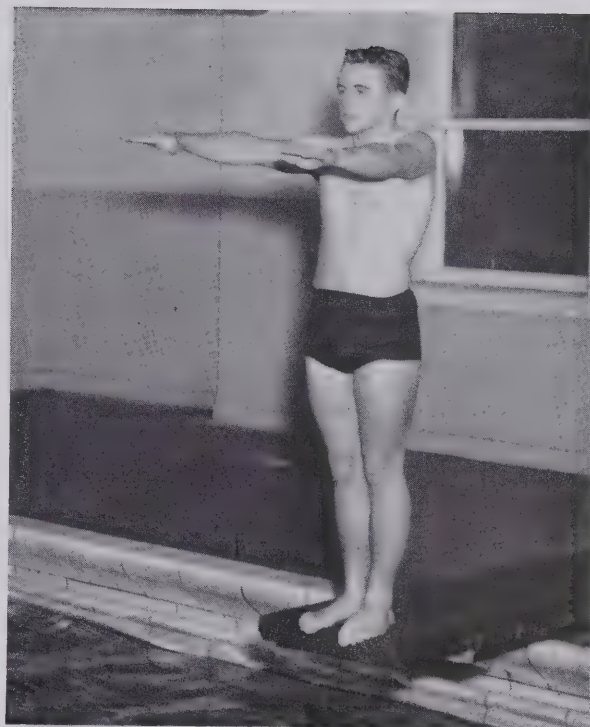

golf, tennis came in the spring.

The newly organized golf team of NHHS traveled with the baseball team to meet its competitors. A spring tournament on a local course determined the members of the team and also created an interest in the sport throughout the school. There were a few meets in South Carolina, as well as in our own state. The team entered the State Championship Tournament in High Point.

Standing: Alex Efird, Gene Gay, David Sloan, George Autry, Stewart Hare, Freddie Butters. Kneeling: David Barefoot.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays the walls of the "Y" Pool echoed the splashings of the swimming team. The Aquacats, with state championship hopes in mind, were headed by a senior captain, Eric Oertel. Some of the teams the tankmen swam against were Fayetteville, Raleigh, High Point, and E.C.C. Freshmen. They also participated in State Invitational meets held at State College and Duke University. From the boys' good spirits and tireless workouts came success in the state meets.

Dear Sharon,
Remember all our fine times this year. That night at Maggie's and the time we spent the other night just did it. No I didn't mean that we'll have to do it a lot more next year. May you always have the best of is life.
Love to a sweet girl

Dear Sharon
Don't forget the good times we had together at Aunt Nell's. It's better to see more of you & get everything cool & nice But. I don't year.

Dear Sharon,
This has been one more great year.
You sure help make it that way. I can hardly believe we will be seniors next year. It sure has been wonderful knowing and having your friendship these past two years. I'll never forget the good times we had this year and last. Sharon, you are a very sweet and good girl.
You couldn't be any cuter. I am proud to have. But I think to you.

Autographs

Hi ole Pal.

I hope you cherish this little note the rest of your days because its from 'til 'ole me. It really has been wonderful being in your homeroom this second semester and in your English class all year with Mr. Breedlove teasing us. Please don't forget to keep your love life forever blooming. Pal, we do have fun riding around in my "cat" now that I have my license, right? Don't forget me over the summer because I'll want to be your friend next year, too.

Stay as sweet as you are, always.
and don't go out with too many boys.

Hi Sharon,

We have really had so fun together during the past couple of years.
We really did some talking at our last sessions. I never will forget that new year's Eve affair. I hope you continue to have luck as it looks as if you left out as you part of it. If you go to Mexico, have fun & visit some with your mom & the hospital. I guess you had my space so I will say: I'll miss you & everything to a new year.

Always

Dear Sharon,
We've had a good time in typing this year. I hope we'll be in some classes together next year. Good luck to a wonderful girl, and may you have much happiness from now on.
